

Garlic Heritage

A Legacy of Indian Garlic

India is one of the world's leading producers of garlic, recognized globally for its strong aroma, rich flavour profile, and high-quality bulbs. For centuries, garlic has played an important role in culinary traditions, wellness practices, and food manufacturing applications.

Today, India is a trusted source of premium dehydrated garlic products, supported by advanced processing facilities, consistent quality standards, and reliable export capabilities.

At Andromage Global LLP, we connect international buyers with premium dehydrated garlic products sourced through trusted processing partners and export-focused quality systems.
